the furniture that makes your room is made by Lane® makers of famous Lane cedar chests

– MODERN FURN BOX

You get superb craftsmanship from Lane.

Only seasoned woods are used, hand-glazed and hand-rubbed to a soft, lustrous finish. All tops are full-thickness. Legs, cross pieces, all joinings are locked to fit. There's no rock, no wobble, no place for it to start. Lane's custom craftsmanship assures you of discreetly priced long-lasting furniture for your home.

Each of the select cabinet woods used in your Lane furniture has its own distinctive beauty and grain pattern. Since wood comes from a living organism, no two pieces ever match exactly. Instead, each has its own individual grain and rich color which skilled Lane finishers develop to the maximum. These differences give every piece of Lane furniture a character and individuality all its own and this is the real hallmark of a treasured work of art.

LANE'S
Components Group
Designed by Paul McCobb

An exciting new casual look keynotes this highly functional collection from the design studios of Paul McCobb. The superb proportions and finely tailored lines that are the designer's hallmarks are readily apparent. But now, with impeccable taste, McCobb has added touches of warmth with treatments suggesting handmade furniture. The tops of all case pieces simulate random plank construction, while case ends appear to be joined to the tops with box-mitre dado cuts. The end result is a group of furniture with powerful appeal to casual-minded homemakers, as well as modern enthusiasts. Although relatively compact in number of pieces, the design satisfies practically any space requirements by grouping various units. An example of its versatility is found in the 12′ long, 78″ high wall combination, created by assembling 7 separate pieces from the collection. Drawers glide in and out smoothly and easily on metal guides. The finish is oil walnut, rubbed to a very dull patina.

Paul McCobb

Internationally respected, Paul McCobb's designs maintain a certain esthetic character that represents a most determined objective—to create for today the timeless designs that will establish this contemporary period as a high point in the evolution of the American home. His appreciation of the proper space relationship, his unerring refinement of detail, and his sensitive understanding of production are once more evident in this newest contribution to today's living—LANE'S COMPONENTS GROUP.

You get a beautiful finish that's easy-to-keep.

Directions: to polish, first clean the surface lightly with a moistened cloth. Then apply a good furniture polish smoothly with the grain. After it dries, gently polish the surface with a soft cloth. With brand-new furniture, do this once a week for the first month. After that time, polish occasionally to keep the beautiful finish. Dust regularly, but do it lightly because dust is abrasive.

Caution: don't place rubber-based lamps, telephones, radios or other objects on lacquer finishes unless the surfaces are protected by pads. Rubber can cause a chemical reaction, turning the finish yellow. It is also advisable to avoid placing furniture where it is constantly exposed to direct sunlight.
